

JERILYN HASSELL POOL

ABOUT ME

While my career started in graphic design nearly 20 years ago, my abilities have stretched and grown to include overall creative and brand management, event planning, social media management, public speaking, and product development.

I am thoughtful, bold, and loyal.

I believe in building community and education and I love the creation of materials which elevate and construct.

RANDOM FACTS

Has a husband who once accidentally drank a mouse.

Picks fights with Lisa Rinna on Twitter after LR talked trash about our shared hometown of Medford, Oregon.

Collects nerdy action figures.

Would really, really like to start a magazine someday targeted towards young women who aren't interested in dating or makeup or fashion.

Is heavily involved in the LGBTQ Mormon community as an ally and activist.

Really likes Crunchy Cheetos.

Has over 2000 followers on Twitter, including Barack Obama and Stephen Fry, not that they ever pay attention to her.

REFERENCES

"Jerilyn's presence would grace the premises of any discerning company. Her huge talent at producing natty electronic images is one thing but her searing intellect coupled with her irascible wit makes her the complete employee. Did I mention that she's nice too?"

-Dr. Gina Colvin

"Jerilyn's creativity and artistic ability is unmatched in both quality and quantity."

- Lindsay Hansen Park

"Jerilyn will use her art to help you see things more clearly, she will also show you the truth which is often harsh."

- Staci Hopkin

"Jerilyn approaches all her projects with creativity and wit. Further, she can navigate with facility the ever-changing world of social media—a task quite baffling for some but increasingly essential."

-Lorie Winder Stromberg

"In many social forums, Jerilyn exercises what privilege and authority she has in work toward expanding dialogue and awareness of the layers of humanity affected by systems of oppression."

- Corey Howard

"Jerilyn has the kind of energy and spirit that is great to work with. She's definitely a firecracker!"

- Mitch Mayne

"Jerilyn's commitment to integrity of self and the other is matched only by her talent and enviable wit."

- Mica McGriggs
